DETAILED ACTION

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-9, drawn to a combination anchor attached to a vehicle.

Group II, claim(s) 10-15, drawn to a subcombination anchor.

Group III, claim(s) 16-20, drawn to an anchor system for a railcar.

2. The inventions listed as Groups I and II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: groups I and II are related as combination and subcombination. The combination does not include the particulars of the subcombination as at least edges configured as defined are not required. The subcombination has separate utility such as use as a tiedown for a warehouse shelf.

3. The inventions listed as Groups I and III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: groups I and III are related as combination and subcombination. The combination does not include the particulars of the subcombination as at least edges configured as defined are not required. The subcombination has separate utility such as use as a tiedown for a warehouse shelf.

4. The inventions listed as Groups III and II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: groups I and II are related as combination and subcombination. The combination does not include the particulars of the subcombination as at least the back surface specifically securing the tensile member per se is not required. The subcombination has separate utility such as use as a tiedown for a warehouse shelf and/or use in a system not utilizing securement connectors other than a pin per se (e.g. clip, hook etc.).

5. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Anchor species as follows:

Species A – figure 2

Species B – figure 11+

Species C – figure 15.

Additionally, election between species of tie assembly as follows is required:

Species D – figure 17

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

6. The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

At least claim 1 appears to be generic.

7. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: with regard to the defined anchor species, each defines at least differing frontal apertures which define potentially patentably distinct features. With regard to the tie assembly embodiments, each anchor in combination with the varying tie members defines potentially patentably distinct embodiments.

8. Due to the complexity of the above restriction/election, the requirement is being submitted to applicant in written form to allow ample time to address the issues raised.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.
